Mary Gordon appealed yesterday to Officer Rob-inson, of the Twenty-eighth Precinct, for protec-tion against her brother, Michael Gordon, a brick-layer, living in Seventy-third-st, near First-ave, who, she stated, had beaten her and her mother. Robinson entered the house to arrest him. He re-issted but three policemen overpowered him and longed him in the police station. He had struck the girl on the head with a hammer and kicked his mother. In the Yorkville Police Court he was held for trial. ABUSING HIS MOTHER AND HIS SISTER.

The Civil Service examinations for positions in the Costom Homes were continued yesterday in the Post Office Building. There were about forty applicants for clerkships at $1,600 a year. All of the applicants are now clerks at $1,200 or $1,400. About half of them answered in a satisfactory way the questions, which related almost entirely to the duties of those hooding positions in the Custom House. General Williams, John N. Comstock and John L. Livingston are the members of the Board of Examiners.

whether the present aqueduct was made fully available or whether there were any leaks or needless waste which might be corrected.

injured from a wound inflicted by Doerr. It appears that on the night of the Fourth Street School disaster the two men met in the liquor store at No. 155 Second-st., and engaged in an argument concerning the calamity. They entertained dissimilar views regarding it, and a controversy as to where the blame rested caused a quarrel. In this, it is alleved, the prisoner struck Schilder on the head with a stone match-box. Justice Gardner released the accused man on bail to await the result of the injuries inflicted.

It will take nearly three weeks to make an inventory of all the articles for which he was responsible at the time of his prostration, but as the most valuable of these nave been found properly the most variable of the second and properly secured and accounted for, it is regarded as certain that there has been no dishonesty or carelessness in the Bureau while the clerk was able to discharge his duties. The Police Commissioners said that they believed that Mr. St John's accounts would be tound to be correct. The resignation of the clerk will not be accepted, until it is made certain that he will be unable to perform his duties.

DEATH ENDS A DIVORCE SUIT.

Baltbaser Ott, a jeweller in Fulton-st., Brooklyn, and living near East New-York, recently began in the City Court an action for limited divorce against his wrie, Mrs. Mary Ott. The plaintiff was seventy-one years old and had become weakened by age and sick east. He charged that his wife—who was nearly thirty years younger than himself—had taken advantage of his weakness to abuse him so cruelly that he was unable longer to endure her treatment. The release from his troubles sought by the husband came in another way on Thursday night. The trial of the suit had been set down for yesterday before Judge Clement, When the case was called, G. W. Pinckney, who was the consel for the plaintiff in the divorce proceedings, rose and announced that his client, proceedings, rose and amounced that his client, who had long been ril, had died on the previous evening. The end of the case, which it was thought would occupy a considerable time, was thus unexpectedly reached.

DISAPPEARANCE OF A SALESMAN.
It was reported yesterday that C. G. Chambers, who recently disappeared from this city, had in his possession a sum of money belonging to his employers, having sold for cash several bills of goods at a discount from regular prices and pocketed the money. Mr. Johnson, who was seen by a TRIBUNE reporter, stated that the amount of money stolen was small; too small, in fact, to explain the absence of Mr. Chambers. He was of the opinion that domestic troubles were the cause of the salesman's disappearance.

Yesterday when the case was called in Part 2 of the General Sessions, Early informed Detective Reilly, who was on hand to appear against the women, that he did not know where she was and that he would be unable to produce her in court. The case was adjourned until Monday. Early said fast might to a reporter that he had seen the woman The case was adjourned until Monday. Early said last night to a reporter that he had seen the woman in this city about two weeks ago. Her husband called upon him several days ago and said he was going to sail for England next week to get his legacy, and that he would reimburse him for the loss of his bail. Mr. Early added that the bail only amounted to $100 and that he intended paying it, as he did not believe that the woman intended to "show up," and he did not propose to hunt her up.

A WOMAN'S EXPERIENCE.

What a Lady of Great Prominence Has to Say About

(Boston Globe.)

On a recent trip by a representative of this paper to the city of Haverhill, Mass., a most important incident occurred, which cannot fail to be of the greatest interest to all, and especially to our lady readers. The invespaper man met a indy a trifle pust middle age with invarious white hair thint contrasted strikingly with piercing black eyes. She possessed a straight, full habit, womandy, but commanding, combined with manners wholly isdylike, and yet pronounced. Any acute judge of he man nature could see at once that he was in the presence of an unusual personage—one devined to accomplish more than most of her sex, and to exert an infinence far-teaching in its power. This lady was Mrs. M. W. Wingate. Almost from childhood she has taken a special interest in the bodily troubles of her sex and has probably been more successful in relieving suffering and saving lives than any other woman in America. Indeed, she seems to have been to women what Florence Nightlugude and Dorothy Dix were to the suffering solders. The instances of women who were in greatest agony and apparently beyond the rence of human aid, that she has restored to health and happiness, are almost inhumerable, and it was only natural that the scribe with her more in detail.

How yong have you been engaged in the practice of er more in detail.

ow long have you been engaged in the practice of the, Mrs. Wingatef"

How long have you been engaged in the practice of medicine. Mrs. Wingate!"

"For roose than 12 years."

"A long time, certainly. How did you happen to enter the field at that early day when women in the professions were specially Trowned down upon!"

"I think i must have inherited a taste from my father, Professor J. C. Wood, of Harvard College. He was eminent in the profession, a hard worker and equalty earnest in his recreations. He hunted consideraby and I remember when only nine years old I used to dissect the birds and animals he had killed. I felt infatuation has continued up to the present time.

"And did you begin your studies so early in life!"

"I can hardly say when I began, for I cannot remember when I did not read medical literature. You would scarcely believe it, but I was a sleader girl, and did not weigh over 120 pounds, but I used to sit up night after night until 2 o'clock in the morning porting over my studies and never dreaming of the flight of time. It seemed as though calls for my attendance on the sick always came unsolicited. I certainly cannot fix the date when I first began practicing. Of course most of my patients were women, and the natural sympathy I felt for my sex has increased during all these years where I have been brought so closely in contact with them, and have learned to anticipate their needs and sympathize with their sufferings. After the opening of the Boston Medical College I appeared before the faculty; passed examination and received a diploma. I had practised for years previous to that time, but thought it destrable to receive another diploma, which I did without any effort."

"Your experience with the many and serious diseases to receive another diploma, which I did without any effort."

"Your experience with the many and serious diseases of women having been so extensive must also be valuable! can you give me some facts regarding them!"

"I find that woman seems born to suffering, and where she avoids it, it is by reason of some care on her part or owing to some special renewing power. It is true, some women go through life without amount suffering, but they are none the less in danger, for there are critical periods all along their pathway when the utmost precaution is required. The innumerable complaints called female weaknesses; the irregularities of life and changes of the system all indicate the perils which hang over every woman's career, and which unless attended to, may result disastrously."

what to do, but finally thought I would try something out of the usual line. I had heard a certain remedy recommended very highly, and so I procured some and made a chemical analysis of it. I found it was perfectly pure, and that the impredients were unusually valuable, not a bottle of my own. To my creat Joy, if seemed to mave an almost immediate effect, and a complete cure was the result. Since then I have used it constantly in my practice and have cured every form of female weakness, as well as displacements, dropsied tumors, ceilu dropsy and all such troubles. I have also used it with the best of results in cases of pregnancy and cestation. Indeed I have found it of unfold value and benefit." Have you any objection to giving me the name of this remedy of which you speak!

"None whatever. It is Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure."

"Wny, that is a proprietary medicine."

"Certainly, but what of that I I have but one end in view in the treatment of my patients, namely—their restoration of health. In the accomplishment of this end I presertise what I believe to be beneficial, no matter what the professional consequences may be."

"I notice in the New York papers that Doctors Hammond, Agnew and other prominent physicians are taking a similar stand. Mrs. Wingate."

"Yes, and all independent thinkers in the profession are bound to do so. I am, however, on the best of terms with my professional brettern as you can see," and the lady produced a benutiful gold medal mounted in the form of a healge which had been presented her by the medical seciety, known as the Ensign of the Humble Family, of which she is a prominent member. After examining it closely, the reporter remarked that the medical profession evidently were proud of what she had done, as she might well be in the possession of such a medal."

"I am proud of that," she replied, "and I was also pleased a short time since to receive an offer at a large salary to take the professorship in the new medical colege at Walla Walla, on the Pacific coast. I do not know how they heard of me out there, but I was obliged to define their offer."

four per cent valuation) is larger, and the percentage of death claims to the amount at risk is smaller, than in any other of the five largest life assurance companies.*

The Society issues a plain and simple contract of assurance, free from burdensome and technical conditions, and INCON-TESTABLE after three years. Such policies are payable IMMEDIATELY upon the receipt of satisfactory proofs of death, and without the delay of sixty or ninety days, usual with other companies.

The Society has no contested claims on its books.

From the undivided surplus, contributed by policies in the General class, reversionary dividends will be declared, available on settlement of next annual premium, to ordinary participating pelicies. From the undivided surplus contributed by policies in the Toutine class, the amounts applicable to policies maturing within the current year will be duly declared, as their respective annual premiums become due. The valuation of the policies outstanding has been made on the American Experience Table of Mortality, with 4½ per cent. interest, the legal standard of the State of New-York.
